James Davis, Ph.D., Assistant Professor of Computer and Information Science, is developing an advanced video surveillance system that uses computers equipped with video cameras to not only detect the presence of people, but also to identify their activities. The research has broad implications for Homeland Security as well as search and rescue, border patrol, law enforcement and many other types of military applications. The system combines a thermal camera with machine learning methods, enabling the computer to perform the kind of visual recognition that seems effortless for humans. Davis’ work in investigating computer vision methods was recently recognized by the National Science Foundation with the prestigious NSF Faculty Early Career Development (CAREER) Program award. Support for this research (past and present) has been provided by the National Science Foundation, U.S. Army Night Vision Laboratory, U.S. Air Force, Intel, and Ohio Board of Regents.

Special Agent Robert Steinau is a graduate of accounting from the University of Cincinnati. While a Bearcat, SA Steinau enlisted in the United States Marine Corps where he served for a total of 6 years. Upon graduation, SA Steinau accepted a position as Operations Manager for a Cincinnati distribution company. In 1999, he was hired as a Special Agent by the United States Secret Service. In 2001, SA Steinau entered the Secret Service’s Electronic Crimes Program. During his tenure with the Secret Service, SA Steinau has conducted numerous investigations ranging from the low tech crime of stealing credit cards to the high tech crimes such as "skimming" and hacking computer systems to obtain credit card numbers. SA Steinau also investigates internet and email based child exploitation cases. SA Steinau is currently assigned to the Cincinnati Field Office.

Mrs. Cathy Tilton is the Director of Integrated Solutions at SAFLINK Corp., a multi-biometric enterprise software company. She also chairs the BioAPI Consortium, is the international representative for INCITS M1 technical committee on biometrics, and chairs the M1 Ad Hoc Group on Biometric Interoperability in Support of the Government Smart Card Framework (AHGBISGF). She is active in the US Biometric Consortium, the International Biometric Industry Association (IBIA), and ANSI X9F4. She is the technical editor of the BioAPI within ISO/IEC JTC1 SC37 SG2.

Cathy has over 20 years of engineering and management experience. Prior to SAFLINK, she was a systems engineering department manager at Unisys, where she was involved with large scale electronic defense systems development. As a captain with the US Army, she was involved with R&D and testing of new communications-electronics equipment and systems.

Her areas of expertise include requirements analysis, allocation, and specification; software requirements definition; interface engineering; and system, software, and operational testing. She also has experience in the area of engineering process improvement. Applications include electronic warfare, command and control, communications, navigation, and information processing systems. During her last assignment at Unisys, she led the systems engineering effort for the FBI Automated Fingerprint Identification System (AFIS) program (Phase II).

She has a BS in nuclear engineering from Mississippi State and an MS in systems engineering from Virginia Tech.

Roy N. Bordes is the President and CEO of THE BORDES GROUP INC, a security design/consulting firm based in Orlando, Florida. Roy’s experience and background is varied. Prior to entering the world of private security, he served in the Navy where he specialized in the discipline of development, deployment and testing of underwater detection systems. After his military service, he worked for four years in law enforcement with the U. S. Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs as well as the Tennessee Bureau of Investigation, as an agent with narcotics enforcement units. He left law enforcement to enter private security. Roy is an active member of the American Society for Industrial Security (ASIS) and has held many positions and offices with the organization. Mr. Bordes is an alumnus of Austin Peay State University in Clarksville, Tennessee of the class of 1971. He currently resides in Orlando, Florida where he, along with his wife, enjoys various sports including scuba diving, tennis, and bicycling.

About The Luncheon Keynote Speaker

Dan Kropp is the 2004 Chairman of the Board of ASIS International, having served as the Society’s 48th President in 2003.

Dan has worked in the Security Industry for nineteen years, as an entrepreneurial executive of the industry’s leading crime data and mapping company, as well as the Security Director of such organizations as the Philadelphia Zoo, Meridian Bank, and two Philadelphia-area Hospitals.

He has a Bachelor’s degree in Public Administration and two MBAs—one in Administrative Management and the other in Environmental Protection & Safety Management; all from St. Joseph’s University in Philadelphia. He is also Board Certified in Security Management, having earned the CPP designation in 1996.

As Chairman of the Board of ASIS International, Dan continues to promote and support the many progressive activities of the Society. During his time on the Board, he has been influential in the ASIS Foundation’s Industry-wide Research activities, the Society’s endeavors into IT Security, a concentrated evaluation of the Society’s Regional and Chapter make-up, the creation of the PSP and PCI Certifications, the Commission on Guidelines, and the Society’s recent acquisition of the Protection of Assets Manual.

Dan is a member of ASIS’s Greater Philadelphia Chapter, and a regular participant in the activities of the Society’s various Chapters throughout Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware.
