import javax.swing.JApplet;

public class CalcApplet extends JApplet { //... Create model, view, and controller. They are //    created once here and passed to the parts that //    need them so there is only one copy of each.

    public void init()
    {
        CalcView view = new CalcView();
        CalcModel model = new CalcModel();
        CalcController controller = new CalcController(model, view);

        view.setOpaque(true);
        getContentPane(view);
    }
}